appearance of the black clouds from the sky. So they built a strange fortress there. One day the warrior mercenaries came to that fortress. They came to get away from the dangerous atmosphere of the black cloud and to work. However, the black cloud will reappear in the time. One day, the mercenaries went to attack the fortress. But the fortress became a huge blackness. Some time later, the old man who had been the leader of the fortress came out of the fortress and came to the outside of the fortress. "What is this?" He wondered, "What kind of Fortress is it?" On that day, he went to the little stone town to look for the merchant who had had his business on the stone town. The merchant told him that the rumors of the black cloud had already spread to the outside of the town. The old man came back to the stone town and told his friend that they had to return to the fortress. "That is the fact. To a fortress?" He said, "I have the dream of the Fortress Empire. Is it possible to get the warrior mercenaries? The Warrior mercenaries have had bad blood for a long time. I will do anything." This was the man who had been the leader of the fortress.

It was staged as a replacement for the Great Western Counties Championships, which had been in abeyance for a decade, and ran for two years, featuring one round of four-ball, one round of seven-ball and three six-ball events. The format was never repeated and the games were not played again. Typically, a speech synthesis system employs an Automatic Speech Recognition (ASR) system to understand human speech. An ASR system is used in conjunction with a text-to-speech (TTS) synthesis system to produce the desired output. In a standard ASR system, an input signal, which may be digitized text, e.g., a standard phoneme library, is analyzed by the ASR to determine a corresponding output. This output may then be used to control a TTS system that provides the required output. Speech synthesis systems are typically employed in an automated call center. Speech synthesis systems typically are used to take the information gathered in a call center and use it to provide an audio prompt, answer an inquiry, provide information regarding a service, or in some other way convey information. Examples of call centers – Dominic Privett-Lyman The original 5.1 surround mix treatment of the French Animation classic, Felicien -les fantômes du bonheur, has been acquired by UK distributor DHX Media & Television and re-dubbed by its resident mix team, with music retained for the Dolby Atmos version. This edit presents an extended, modified soundtrack by Nicolas Berthier, with heavy monodic input courtesy of DDPM's Dany Verga: Resurrection of the Music Director's Cut: 3.2.0 from FV5 At the December 2011 Montreal PREMIERE presentation of the 3rd cut of "RESPIRATION OF THE MUSIC DIRECTOR'S CUT" (FV3), composer Nicolas Berthier stated as follows: "For a long time I had been looking for a score for "Felicien - les fantômes du bonheur". We worked together on an idea of Moebius for this film; he then gave me his blessing to try to make something. Because the film was produced in the early 2000's, I then thought it might be good to return to the original score, which I'd heard when I was a kid. But when this was announced to the public after the MPAA merger, I thought we could do better than "the original score". I wanted the recording to be done to get closer to the sound in my head for this score, while making it more "moody", ie less "happy". There were songs to play with, especially since the animation did not associate with these songs. Because it is funny, I put the parody of the children's songs to music—those songs I'd heard as a child. The original score mixed the male vocals as well as the girl vocals in the choral parts. We recorded and mixed songs as a real choir, which was extremely cool to be part of. We started to listen to the VOI records to find out where the female voices lived. It's hard to believe that there is a "super-vocalist" based in Toronto. We tried to find that vocalist! Then it was important to try to rewrite the songs and put new lyrics. Those were sung by the legendary Canadian singer/songwriter, Sarah Harmer. We then mixed the
